SUBJECT SITE

The property comprises a broadly triangular shaped parcel of former farmland together with a two-storey red brick dual-pitched roof barn. To the side of the barn is a dilapidated lean-to. The whole structure requires extensive renovation. The land is currently overgrown with vegetation, some mature trees and has potential for landscaping. To the north of the land runs the access road to the subject property, which serves multiple dwelling houses. The former Parton Court Farm has now been developed into several dwelling houses and commercial units. This road is within the subject property's title.

- Potential for a Range of Uses (Subject to Planning)

PLANNING

The Local Planning Authority is Tewkesbury Borough Council. The land and property were formerly in Agricultural Use. Historically the property benefitted from Planning Consent for conversion to a single residential dwelling, this consent has now lapsed. The building appears to have scope for conversion to a residential dwelling house and the land landscaped for garden and amenity purposes – subject to planning permission being forthcoming.

SERVICES

We understand that the subject property does not benefit from any mains services. It is assumed that mains services will be available in Station Road and may be present in the Parton Court Farm Track.

TENURE

Freehold with Vacant Possession. The roadway included within the sale is subject to third party access rights. The road serves multiple dwellings at the former Parton Court Farm. There is a provision with the title for adjoining users to provide a contribution to the repair and maintenance of the road.
